1959 Prophecy, given by the late Rev A.A.Allen

"This is My valley. Here have I called my people, yea, I have ordained it. In the beginning, in the early centuries have I ordained this valley. When I did lay the foundations of the world, when I placed the heavens above, and when I laid the water of the seas, at that time did I make this valley. Yes, I did walk in it from mountain to mountain. Yea and in this valley have I called my people and from this valley they shall go forth and I the Lord thy God shall go with them. And I have looked upon My harvest and I have said, "Where are my laborers?" There are so few. The fields are white and the sheaves are falling. There are many that I have called and I have chosen. I have said in my heart, I will set My valley aside. I shall call My people, those that will hearken unto My voice and I will speak with My people and I will endue them with power through the Holy Ghost. Yea, I the Lord have spoken unto My people and I will walk among them and I will speak through them. They shall come from the east. They shall come from the west, from the north and from the south into this place to prepare here to go unto My whiten harvest fields. I will open the windows of heaven and I will pour out of My power and I will bless thee and I will give thee what thou hast desired."

If thou shalt believe and rejoice, I, the Lord thy God, shall do a mighty work among thee."

"Yea, I say unto thee, the evil one, even Lucifer himself hath sent his spirits into thy midst and they did try to say that which I have given thee: yea, they did try to spread unbelief and doubt, but I say unto thee, I did send my holy angels, my messengers from above. They came with their swords and chased the evil spirits from these grounds. I did look down and see the distress of my people. I did see their burdens, their heaviness. I did see their unbelief and their lack of faith and I say in my heart, "My people shall rejoice, my people shall praise me; my people shall know my name; my people shall know my voice and my people shall know that I, the Lord their God, am a mighty God." Therefore did I say, "Come thou
